

Local Specialists for Accountancy Professionals!

Do you want a new job?
Ever used an agency?
Here is some FREE advice for you.

Recruitment agencies have been around since the 18th century. Today the industry is worth some £23 billion (more than the whole U.K. Food and Beverage industry) with around HALF A BILLION people finding work each year.

So why should you use an agency?

As you can see from the figures above - IT WORKS!

Companies use a recruitment agency because they do not have time to advertise. They want to talk to a qualified consultant who considers peoples career expectations. They want us to match their jobs with the best available people.

How do you choose a recruitment agency to work with?

Choose an agency that LISTENS to what you want to do.
Choose an agency that CARES about you.
Choose an agency that are PROFESSIONAL in their approach.

Richard Johnson (Managing Director)

Should working in accounts be a swine?

However much you might like hogging the limelight, if you end up working for a pig you'll probably find you've bitten off more than you can chew.

Easy, I hear you say, only an idiot would work for a pig. But how do you spot them? Some pigs look cute and friendly others slightly more menacing like Adolf (pictured).

At Ba Recruitment, we don't work with pigs. We only work with employers we trust and respect, employers who value their staff, nurture and reward them accordingly.

Adolf is not one of our clients. Escape from your animal farm and call Ba Recruitment for your next accounting position.

For local accounts and admin positions, please call 01773 826100 or e-mail your cv to cv@barecruitment.co.uk

Never wrestle with a pig.
You both get dirty but only the pig enjoys it.
