Polly wanted a new plantpot so she visited a local shop. After handling and examining each of the different pots in turn she randomly replaced them after she had made her choice. Here is the display before and after Polly's visit. Which pot did she buy?

What am I?: Find one letter from each line of our poem and discover the answer to the clue in the last line.

My first is in ocean but not in sea, My second in milk but not in me
My third in three but not in throw, My fourth in vow but not in crow
My fifth in eight but not in night, My last in wrong and also right
My whole is praise for women or men, Or school work you do with pencil or pen.
