

You could walk or cycle the short distances you need to go – great for the environment and can keep you fit as well.

In our house we always try to turn off the lights because if we don't my dad gets angry and starts saying it looks like Blackpool Illuminations; seems we have to live in the dark. I'm not sure whether he is thinking more about saving the environment or his bank balance! When my mum washes my clothes she always washes them at a low temperature unless it is my muddy football kit! We try to recycle cans, bottles and cardboard and make sure that the television is turned off and not just on standby. My mum and dad also try to walk everywhere.

As you can tell, there are many things you can do to help the environment and they are all quite simple and cheap to do. You should try to do these things, I mean it is our planet after all and it's not like there is another one we can borrow if we destroy ours so look after it and try to do something while there is still time.

Keyboard Shortcuts

Internet Explorer offers a number of keyboard shortcuts. Here are a couple of useful ones:

1. Saving a website to your favourites list: Find the website you want and press the Ctrl and D buttons at the same time.
2. Closing a window quickly: Press the Alt button and the F4 button at the same time.
3. Copying an entire website or document: Rather than highlighting everything with the mouse, you can highlight the entire document at once by pressing the Ctrl and A buttons at the same time.

Website of the Month

Something to keep our little ones occupied this month! Below are some tried and tested websites that have a huge range of outline pictures ready for budding artists to colour in. Most have links to other sites along similar lines.

www.myfreecolouringpages.com
This site has simple pictures suitable for small children as well as dot-to-dot and line colouring and online fuzzy text.

www.dltk-kids.com/coloring.htm
A huge range of beautiful and educational pictures to print and colour.

www.coloring.ws
As well as some pictures to colour, this site has links to games and puzzles suitable for children.

And now for something completely different, try exploring this educational site where you can learn about animals and even create your own!
