

Milford resident, Laurence Bryant (pictured) has introduced a new on-line business magazine to add to his already successful on-line careers service.

Laurence is married to Gail and has a daughter Sophie (8) who attends William Gilbert School in Duffield. Laurence, Managing Director of Midlands Careers explains: "The cost per response of recruitment advertising can be very expensive – I am providing businesses with an affordable opportunity to promote their products, services and current vacancies both on-line and in print." Laurence, previously a senior manager with a major recruitment company adds: "For under £100, a company can advertise on-line for a whole year and this package includes four advertisements within The Careers & Business Mail publication which is distributed fortnightly to key centres." The launch of Laurence's company coincides with him winning a contract to regionally advertise recruitment for the British Army. Laurence's unique service also provides 24 hour ad-response support for people who require immediate information or don't have internet access.
